

This is because the girl probably inherited a lot of genes that determine appearance from her grandfather. However, she got two X chromosomes - one from each parent - so the female phenotype is determined.

For visualization let's investigate the possibility that girl will inherit her X chromosome from maternal grandfather. Any other autosome can be inherited in such way too.

