

Answer on Question #47846, Biology, Other

Question: if your ocular lens had a power of 10x and your objective lens had a power of 45x, what is the total magnification?

Answer: Total magnification is equal to power of ocular lens multiplied by the power of the objective lens and we get $10 \times 45 = 450x$