

Answer on Question #49579, Biology, Other

Task:

Which factors affect the quality of grape?

Answer:

The quality of grape is being influenced by different factors. Among them are: sugar level and acid content in a grape juice, presence of flavor constituents (methyl anthranilate or other volatiles and phenolic).

Changes, which occur in the grape during growth, maturation and processing, determine quality of juice.