

Clear and labelled diagram of Resource partitioning of soil by desert plants.

Answer:

Roots of each plant species take up water and minerals from a different soil depth. This reduces competition among species and allows them to coexist.

