

Question #58736, Chemistry, General Chemistry

Explain why the the metal is a solid atom on the product side of a reduction-half reaction.

Answer:

During reduction process metal ions gain electrons from donors.

For example, in the equation below Cu from its substance undergoes reduction process by gaining electrons (from +2 charge to a neutral atom).

+2 0

