

Answer:

This is usually explained by pointing out that  $\pi$  bonds form by less-efficient “sideways overlap” between atomic orbitals, while in a  $\sigma$  bond the atomic orbitals concerned overlap directly.

$\sigma$  bond in molecule of nitrogen which connects atomic centers is more stronger.