

#82074 Chemistry, Other

Differentiate between leaching and erosion.

Answer:

Erosion is the natural process by which soil / rock are removed from the Earth's surface by exogenetic processes such as wind or water flow, transported and deposited in other locations.

Leaching is the removal of soluble material from soil or other material by percolating water.

Answer provided by www.AssignmentExpert.com