

Answer on Question #38054 – Economics - Macroeconomics

If the Fed creates $600 million in new reserves, the maximum change in checkable deposits that can occur is $$600/0.1 = \6 billion, if the required-reserve ratio is 10%.