

Answer on Question #38251 - Economics - Microeconomics

Canada imports a lot of goods for consumers, so it benefits from the international trade, as it doesn't produce all the products for consumer needs. But the imposing of the tariffs on the import will reduce the gains to Canadian consumers, as the prices for imported goods will also increase.