

Answer on Question #40256 – Marketing – Other

IMF (International Monetary Fund) performs the following functions.

1. Providing short terms credit to member countries for meeting temporary difficulties due to adverse balance of payments.
2. Reconciling conflicting claims of member countries.
3. Providing a reservoir of currencies of member-countries and enabling members to borrow on another's currency.
4. Promoting orderly adjustment of exchange rates.
5. Advising member countries on economic, monetary and technical matters.

ADB (Asian Development Bank) performs the following functions:

1. Promote investment in the region of public and private capital for development purposes.
2. Provide loans for the economic and social development of the member countries of the region.
3. Help member countries in coordinating their development policies and plans.
4. Provide technical assistance for the preparation, financing and execution of development projects and programmes.
5. Undertake such other activities and provide such other services as may advance its objectives.
6. Provide financial and technical assistance to member countries for environmental protection.
7. Act as financial intermediary by transferring resources from global capital markets to developing countries.
8. Support public resource mobilisation and management to member countries.