

Answer on question #53265, Math /Complex Analysis

Question If a complex number lies in the third quadrant, then where does its conjugate lie in?

Solution If a complex number lies in the third quadrant both its real and imaginary parts are negative. Its conjugate then has negative real part and positive imaginary part. This means, that conjugate will lie in the second quadrant.