

Answer on Question #45559-Physics-Electromagnetism

The free electrons in a conducting wire are in constant thermal motion. If such a wire carrying no current is placed in a magnetic field, is there any magnetic force on each free electron?

Answer

Yes, each electron experiences a force. But since the motion is random, the net force on collective electrons is zero.