

Answer on question #51913, Physics, Solid State Physics

Question Average kinetic energy of molecules is Inversely proportional to absolute temperature
Independent of absolute temperature
Directly proportional to absolute temperature
Directly proportional to square root of temperature

Solution Average kinetic energy of molecules is directly proportional to absolute temperature

<http://www.AssignmentExpert.com/>