

Answer on question #51916, Physics, Field Theory

Question With all other factors equal, the most likely to burn your mouth when taken directly from an oven is a food with higher specific heat.
lower specific heat.
specific heat is not important in this situation.
more information needed.

Solution Answer is:

With all other factors equal, the most likely to burn your mouth when taken directly from an oven is a food with higher specific heat.

<http://www.AssignmentExpert.com/>