

Answer on question #52454, Physics, Other

Question In an experiment to determine the surface tension of water by the capillary rise method, the surface tension depends on all of the following EXCEPT interna radius of the capillary tube

the height of the water column

density of water

compressibility of water

Solution Answer: EXCEPT the height of the water column.

<http://www.AssignmentExpert.com/>