

You are standing in a moving bus, facing forward, and you suddenly fall forward as the bus comes to an immediate stop. The force acting on you that causes you to fall forward is

Please provide explanations

Inertial force. When bus stops, you still moving forward. Stopping bus is a non-inertial reference frame. In this frame of reference appears this force, which also called pseudo force.